THE Conrier-Journal.

For the Centennial Year.

1876!!

During all the century of our national1 existence, no one year has perhaps em-bodied so much of interest and importance as will be compassed within the twelve months of the Centennial Anniversary. The year 1876 witnesses in the popular Congressional body the return topower of the great National Democracy,. which will be watched with intense interest in its every movement. The great Centennial Exposition, illustrating and emphasizing every phase of the nation's progress, side by side with the develope-ments of universal civilization, will afford a constant fund of incident and information, which, to the great mase of the peo-ple, can only be reflected by the newspaper of broad scope and commanding re-sources. The Presidential contest of the year, with the great diversity of interests and opinions, and the anomalous align-ment of men, and parties, and sections, will be fought with a skill, energy and PIANOS, weariness only equaled by the noment-
